LBS Financial Credit Union's Jeffrey Napper Inducted into LBCC Hall of Fame

Long Beach, CA – October 15, 2008 -- President and CEO of LBS Financial, Jeffrey Napper, was inducted into the Long Beach City College Hall of Fame on October 10, 2008.

The Long Beach City College (LBCC) Alumni Association Hall of Fame honors alumni who have made outstanding achievements in their chosen career field, service to the community, and/or area of endeavor. Since its inception in 1972, 133 former students have been inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Some past recipients of this prestigious honor are Emmy nominated actor John Amos, comedian Paul Rodriguez, two-time Olympic Gold Medalist Pat Keller McCormick, screen star Barbara Britton, former Long Beach Mayor Beverly O'Neill, syndicated radio DJ Jim Ladd and former LBS Financial President and CEO, Frank Reed.

In June 1977, Napper graduated with Academic Honors from Long Beach City College with an A.A. Degree. He also began his career with LBS Financial Credit Union as a part time teller in 1977 while completing his Bachelor's and Master's Degrees in Business Administration at California State University, Long Beach. In 2002, Napper became President and CEO of LBS Financial Credit Union after holding a number of administrative, operational and management positions over the years.

Napper's involvement with Long Beach City College did not end with graduation. He has served on the LBCC Board of Governors and their Finance Committee since 2002. He has also been a member of the LBCC Foundation Investment Sub-Committee for the last six years and currently serves as the Chairman of this sub-committee.

During the October 10 ceremony, the LBCC Alumni Association inducted four new alumni into their Hall of Fame: Jeffrey Napper in the field of Business; Teresa O'Neill in the field of Entertainment, Les Robbins in the field of Politics/Community; and Judy Seal in the field of Education.
